TELTEC Germany expands sales & service staff increase

TELTEC Germany is pleased to announce another expansion in sales and service staff.

By hiring additional sales & service staff reporting to Thomas Bohn, TELTEC demonstrates its commitment to its partners to maximize market penetration and coverage.

For your reference, here is a brief background of the three newly hired staff members:

Michael Bierbaumer joined the semiconductor industry after his high school degree in Austria with main focus in software development. In the middle of 2011 he moved from Villach Austria to Munich and started working for the htt Group Wafer Reader Division as Application Engineer. He expanded his skills on installations, integrations and services at customers and wafer fabs all over the world.

In 2014 Michael took over the technical sales part for US and was the leading person for new developments on the Wafer ID reader system.

With his world wide experience and technical background we are now pleased to have Michael in our team as of January 1, 2016.

Georg Knieling graduates in 2013 as electrical engineer and then started in the semiconductor industry right away. Within a short time working for TEL he became a perfect connection between tool manufacturing, service and sales in front of his customers. Georg took responsibility as a main engineer leading an account with various electroplating and sputtering tools. Meanwhile he increased his skills during manufacturing work, installation and performing various calculations.

We are glad to have Georg's talents helping our service team to improve the service for our customers.

Iris Pastor earned her Master of Arts in German Philology in 2005. After successfully completing additional commercial training, she started working in the book sector where she was responsible for purchasing, sales, order processing, technical advisory service regarding e-book readers and first-class customer service. Iris Pastor joins TELTEC in Mainhardt as of February 1, 2016 to strengthen inside sales to offer our customers an even faster and better service.

We are confident that Michael, Georg and Iris will provide great value to our International Principals and our European Customer Base.
